MARKET REACTS ON DOLLAR WHEAT

Railway Stocks Generally Made Slight Declines.

NEW YORK, May 13 .- The stock market opened at general advances. Initial prices showed gains of % in Reading; 1/2 n Copper, American Smelting, and New York Central; 1/4 in Steel, and 1/4 in Pennsylvania. St. Paul opened ¼ high-er; Union Pacific gained 1½.

11 a. m.—Strength was shown in the market at the opening, but after the early gains were made the market reacted on a report that the action of wheat in Chicago crossing the dollar mark would have a bad effect.

Atchison was about the only stock which reflected the crop damage already sustained. Railway stocks generally afterward made slight declines. Government bonds unchanged. Railroad and other bonds irregular.

Noon.—After the first hour the only feature of the market was manipulation and professional trading starting an upward movement in the later forenoon. There was continued covering of shorts in Reading that carried the price of that stock from 107% to 108% before noon and at the same time Union Pacific railied over one point, with the buying there of a better character than anywhere else on the floor.

It is understood that John R. Walsh has succeeded, within a few hundred thousand dollars, of raising the $1,000,000 necessary to complete the fund to con-struct the Chicago Southern railroad.

Separate income accounts for the Manhattan Rallway Company, or elevated system, and for the subway division of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company demonstrate again that the elevated railway still pays more on the money invested than the subway system.

Many bankers believe that the Government will make withdrawals of public moneys from the banks at an early date, and that those who think easy money rates will obtain through the summer may find themselves mistaken. Much, however, depends upon the rates of sterling exchange. f sterling exchange

Instructive on the real copper metal situation are these remarks by an official of a prominent electric manufacturing company, which buys millions of pounds of copper a year. The official says: "I do not look for any serious decline in copper prices this year."

While there is an absolute dearth of public interest in the stock market this is not because there is no popular speculative sentiment. The cotton and grain houses report a broad and active speculative position with a wide interest taken all over the country. Even houses which do not especially lay themselves out for grain business report substantial orders.

Instructive on the real copper metal since its establishment, occurred this morning, when, amid a wild scene of turmoil and disorder, September wheat soared above the one dollar mark, occurred this morning, when, amid a wild scene of turmoil and disorder, September wheat soared above the one dollar mark.

Men who have grown gray in the daily struggle on the tumultuous floor, declare that they have never before seen such a display of emotion on the board of trade.

The conditions of the producing countries is the cause given for the high valuation of wheat. Green bugs in the Southwest have cut into the supply, the Southwest have cut into the supply, the foreign production has been small, and the late summer, all taken together, wheat soared above the one-dollar mark.

to sell became even more pronounced nearly every broker on the board seemed to have selling orders, and the offerings came fast and furious from every corpoint on the day, and a half point less than the close of last week. Even those who have bought on the regular call were heard insistently quoting stock Lelow cost prices, and were ready to change front.

The buying of Georgetown Gas at 80 also continued, but even there the rather free offers at that level seemed to strike a snag on the part of enthusiastic buyers who were ready to cry carly in the game.

Capital Traction bonds, to quote a well-worn expression, were as "strong as iron nalls," and the price moved up to 110½ on the best kind of buying. About 25,000 found a ready market. Washington Rallway 4's also found favor and jumped a half point to 80%, finding the market quite bare of bargains.

In all other respects the market was without noteworthy interstocks getting on the record.

The amusing article of Henry Underwood on "Whiskers and Their Virtues" was published in The Sunday Times yesterday through the courtesy of Harper's Weekly. Through an error credit for this clever story was omitted.

Six more of this city's speed-loving automobilists "got theirs" at the hands of Town Marshal Collins yesterday, when the yesterday, when they attempted to hurry on their way through the sacred precincts of Glen Echo. Their aggregate fines amounted to the sum of $4,000,000 of Cuban money in the construction of roads and highways in that island.

This information that the American governor has decided to start in on a system of internal improvements is interesting in view of his recent effort to loan out to the banks of Cuba a large part of the money in the Cuban treasury. A meeting of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association will be held tonight at the headquarters of the association, 1202 Pennsylvania avenue, to the operators of steamboats to comply with the demands for increases in wages for chief and assistant engineers.

About two weeks ago a circular letter was sent by the association to operators, notifying them that they would be exand that May 15 would be the final date for acceptance of the scale.

Alexandria Ferry Men.

The only reply to these cfrculars that has been received, according to W. B. Hayden, president of the associ has come from the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, relative to the wages of the two men employed on their Alexandria ferry. The company states that it will give the matter care-states that it will give the matter careful consideration.

D. J. Callahan, assistant manager of the company, said this morning that the men on all the company's steamers were now receiving more than the amount demanded by the association, but he did not indicate what action would be taken in regard to the pay of the engineers on the terry. on the ferry. Capt. E. S. Randall, of the Randall

Line, has made a compromise proposition to the association through a committee that waited upon him on Satur militee that waited upon him on Saturday.

The meeting tonight is called to determine whether this will be accepted and what action is to be taken in case the other companies involved refuse to make concessions.

The companies to hom circulars were sent are: Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, Randall Line. Columbia National Sand Dredging Company, Potomac Sand Company, A. J. Taylor Bros. WASHINGTON TIMES BUREAU, ALEXANDRIA, VA., May 13.

The condition of William Creegan, the ittle six-year-old son of Michael Creegan, who was run over by an electric car in South Royal street, near Duke, yesterday afternoon, is still critical. The little boy had been with his father to the Young Men's Sodality Lyceum, yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, and was returning to his home, which is around the corner from the Lyceum Hall. Before he left the hall his father cautioned him to keep a lookout for the cars. The lad was in the center of the track, when a northbound electric train on its way to this city from Mt. Vernon, which was in charge of Motorman John S. Barker and Conductor Richard Acton, came spinning along. The train hit the child, knocking him down and running over him. When he was picked up by Policeman Garvey and Joseph Nowland, both of his legs were crushed as far as the hips. He was hurriedly taken to the Alexandria Hospital, but after a consultation between Drs. Smith, Gorman, Snowden, and Moore, it was decided that a successful operation was impossible.

About 7 o'clock Policemen Garvey and Knight arrested the motorman and conductor of the train, which ran over the boy. Police Justice Caton held a preliminary hearing last evening and held the men in $1,000 bond for their appearance tomorrow morning. Martin, E. Green went their surety, and the men were released.

At the investigation yesterday if developed that the car which struck the lad had the fender on the rear instead of the front of the car. The conductor explained that the car was late when it reached Mt. Vernon, and they had started back to the city with the 'ender behind instead of changing it to the front of the car, as is usually done. Police man Garvey was of the opinion that the car was running at 2n excessive rate of speed, but the conductor staved that his car was only running at the rate of ten miles per hour when it struck the boy. the Young Men's Sodality Lyceum, yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, and
